

Project HOPE

Healing Ourselves through Park Excursions

Impact Report

Project HOPE, a visionary initiative supported by a South Carolina Parks, Recreation and Tourism (SCPRT) grant, has been a beacon of holistic wellness and community enrichment for the citizens within our Trinity Educational Community Center community. This report encapsulates the profound impact and multifaceted experiences facilitated by TECC, dedicated to fostering social and emotional wellness among our enthusiastic community.

A YEAR OF FUN, UNIQUE EXPERIENCES

- H.O.P.E. Walks: Throughout the program duration, a total of 6 H.O.P.E. Walks were successfully conducted. These walks served as inclusive, community-building activities, encouraging physical activity and connection with nature. Walks were held at Saluda Shoals Park, Falls Park, Hunting Island State Park, Henry C. Chambers Waterfront Park and Greenview Park.
- Park Excursions: Engaging excursions were organized to different South Carolina parks, exceeding the minimum requirement. These excursions aimed to provide participants with immersive experiences in diverse natural settings, fostering appreciation for South Carolina's parks. Program participants visited Hunting Island State Park, Saluda Shoals Park, Falls Park, Sesquicentennial State Park and Henry C. Chambers Waterfront Park.
- Participant Engagement: Each excursion greatly exceeded the minimum goal of 60 participants, indicating strong community interest and engagement in the program's offerings.
